Peace Keepers

A peace keeper for me is my mom, because she is always a person you can count on. When you need help she will be there to help. She will not start a fight over anything. She is helpful and peaceful all the time. She basically keeps peace everywhere she goes, her work, her home, everywhere! She calms people down really fast. She helps people with tricky problems. She puts other people before herself. My mother is never dishonest. My mom has so much to give. She is so kind and sweet. She is the best! My mom is the most peaceful person I know. If more people had moms like mine the world would be a lot more peaceful. People need peace. Peace helps your mind. Over all, peace is something everybody needs once in a while.
