

Irene Scantillon
7th Grade

April 9, 2013

Who is a peacemaker in your community? In my community, I believe my principle is a huge peacemaker. The way she enforces King to be not only a school, but a community is great. All around school, there's posters enforcing the 4b's. She also encourages spirit days. Lastly, she makes the school a safe place. Ms. Levenson is a great peacemaker.

Look at the King walls. What do you see? Posters. It's not just any posters, there about the 4b's. The 4b's stand for: Be Responsible, Be Respectful, Be Safe, and Be an Ally. Ms. Levenson puts those posters up to remember how the school should be. The posters also encourage the students. Most schools don't even have poster at all, as if no one cared about each other. But King? Just turn your head and you will see a poster. I think Ms. Levenson tries really hard to compel the 4b's to keep peace, which is why there's posters.

A peacemaker's job is not only to maintain peace, but to keep people happy. How do you make kids happy at school? Spirit day! Spirit days are some of the funnest days of school. The whole school dresses up to be involved in spirit days. Ms. Levenson not only encourages spirit days but joins in! I think the job of a peacemaker is to show that their happy doing what they do. Which another reason why shes a peacemaker.

What is the main reason for a peacemaker? Is to keep the community safe, in this case school. Ms. Levenson does a fine job keeping King a safe learning environment. There's security guards to help protect too. Also, there's counselors. Ms. Levenson has a great staff that makes the students feel safe to talk to them. Also all the rules are strongly noted to keep safety of the school. Ms. Levenson shows great leadership to keep King safe.

For all these reasons, Ms. Levenson is a peacemaker in the community.