GUIDING PRINCIPLES FOR THIS MEETING:

1. What is said here, stays here. Keep information and opinions discussed at meetings confidential.
2. Keep an open mind to new concepts and concepts presented in new ways.
3. Treat others with the same respect you expect from them.
4. Put your thinking on the table, not just your conclusions.
5. Listen in order to understand, not debate.
6. Acknowledge problems and deal with them as they occur. Address the process, not the individual.
7. Try to approach your role as sometimes to learn, sometimes to lead, but not simply one or the other.
8. Before you address a topic a second time during a meeting, make sure everyone else has the opportunity to contribute. Avoid being verbally dominant as a tactic to sway decisions.
9. Don't forget, it is OK for us to disagree about topics, but not OK to disrespect each other's opinions.
